

Teacher Ambassador Program

Informed Teachers Helping Students Make Good Decisions

What do our employers think?

David Hann

Hubley's Plumbing

Students and teachers will benefit greatly from this program. Teachers, by sharing their experiences in a skilled trade work environment, will be better equipped to help their students become more aware of the opportunities that exist in the skilled trades. By seeing first hand the benefits of being a skilled trades person, these teacher ambassadors will be able to better advise their students in making good career decisions.

Garnet Kindervater

Garnet Kindervater Contracting Ltd.

The Teacher Ambassador Program is an excellent opportunity for employers in the industry to work with those who have direct contact with people we need in the skilled trades - students! This program is a crucial component of finding a means with which to provide students with the viable option of choosing a rewarding career in the skilled trades. A wonderful program that speaks to the need of having different groups communicating and working together to ensure that students have the opportunity to explore the field of skilled trades!

Gord Peddle

D.D. Transport Ltd.

Sector councils across Canada are all challenged by how to increase youths' understanding of the breath of opportunities available within their industries. The Teacher Ambassador Program facilitates collaborative partnerships between teachers and industry representatives that address this challenge. These partnerships ultimately benefit both students and industry. We need to support and expand this practical and very worthwhile program.

Jim Wiseman

Newfoundland and Labrador Hydro

The Teacher Ambassador Program is an excellent opportunity to get the information about skilled trades out to students - who are our future workers. Students can make better educational choices for their careers at an earlier age. Better informed teachers help ensure better informed students. It's important for students with an interest in the different trade areas to know that there's lots of good, well-paying opportunities in the skilled trades and this program helps get that message across.

Jody Warren

Nine Finger Choppers

By getting more young people interested in exploring the skilled trades it gives me, as an employer, a greater talent pool to draw from when hiring employees. Teachers return to their students with an increased understanding of the knowledge, skills, and abilities needed to achieve success in a specific trade area. Hopefully this Teacher Ambassador Program will help address the skill shortages we have now and predicted to have in the future. Great idea and glad to help out.

Chef Brian Abbott

Restaurant 21

The Teacher Ambassador Program is an important bridge between the classroom and the workplace. In Newfoundland and Labrador, we are soon going to be faced with a crisis because of the shortage of skilled trades people. It is important for young people to explore the different trades areas and to appreciate the vast employment opportunities available here in our province. It is important for us to keep our young people here choosing creative careers that will give them personal happiness and success.

Our Educational Partners

Designed by: Shivam Aggarwal